

Happy Christmas After All

Words & Music: Dieter Müller-Herzing 2020

In a world of pain and sorrow
Full of fake, of hate and lies
Without visions for tomorrow
Without hope in people's eyes
In our world of social distance
There's a strange and curious call
Happy Christmas after all.

In these times of covered faces
We lose our smiles, we lose our hearts
We're getting used to other spaces
With no way for hugs and arts
Getting shy and superstitious
When we see our heroes fall
Happy Christmas after all.

No I never needed a hero
I got my own things to do
But in the year Twenty-Two Zero
I got to do it just for you
Please take care, keep safe and healthy
Preserve your love, don't think too small
Happy Christmas after all.

Special thanks to Achim Farr for help, patience, ideas, inimitable saxophones, fantastic pictures and movies and breaknecking drone flights.
